

Mind Rift (Special Crimes Task Force) (Volume 2)

Boys and girls are being kidnapped, but there haven't been any ransom calls. The Special Crimes Task Force is already at a disadvantage because they're assigned the case a month after the first child disappeared. The kidnapper has had the chance to perfect his or her method and is able to avoid being seen. All Lieutenant Jake Stalb and his team know is they must stop the abductions and find the kids before they're lost forever. Unfortunately, the F.B.I. ceases full control of the investigation because a detective becomes a suspect. Being barred from the case, the Task Force must decide if they'll follow orders or disobey in order to find one of their own.
