

The China Lens A Political-Economic Analysis of Changing China

This book unfolds around three questions. What factors can drive democratization in China? How will Sino-U.S. relation develop under Chinas rising economic interests in Africa and the Middle East? How do gender, global trade, and Chinese politics mutually affect each other? The author, a senior researcher in China Studies, offers a fresh and in-depth political-economic explanation of a changing China from both international and domestic dimensions.
