

Pavilions and Gardens of Venice Biennale

Venices Giardini di Castello has been home to the exhibition pavilions of the International Art Biennale since 1895. As part of the thirteenth Architecture Biennale, various architects, philosophers, art historians, and artists were asked to write an essay on the pavilions. The text is accompanied both by an installation presenting the authors descriptions and by Gabriele Basilicos photographs of the buildings. Gabriele Basilico (1944-2013) was one of today's best known documentary photographers in Europe. Cities and industrial landscapes were his fields of investigation. Basilicos photographs are represented in collections in many major institutions around the world.
