

RLF

RLF is a revolutionary enterprise that seeks to beat capitalism at its own game. As an intervention into the world of capitalism, it sells luxury consumer products: furniture, jewelry, and sneakers. At the same time, RLF is a protest movement: it holds rallies, uses social media channels for political actions, and engages in subverting. Camouflaged as a work of art--a novel, performance, and exhibition--RLF arouses public attention and exploits the media response, from the culture pages of newspapers to a television documentary, as a propaganda tool for the right life in the wrong one. RLF's managing directors are Friedrich von Borries (b. Berlin, 1974; professor of design theory and curatorial practice at the University of Fine Arts of Hamburg) and the artist Mikael Mikael (b. Wiesbaden, 1974; lives and works anonymously). RLF. Annual Report looks back on the revolutionary enterprises first year in business and presents comprehensive documentation of its activities--from the business plan contest to the gamification of the revolution. The book's aesthetic is in keeping with RLF's corporate identity: the world distinguishes between good and evil, so everything is in black and white--or, needless to say, golden. Bound in a piece of the original RLF wallpaper and enhanced with exclusive gilt edging, the annual report is a handbook on how to sabotage the system from within the system.
