

The Mysteries of Life

This is another exploration of body, mind and soul by author, Keith Giemre. The book is aimed at those readers who are open-minded and who continue to have an unlimited level of curiosity to unravel the mysteries of life. If you wish to share in this continuing quest for knowledge, then this book is definitely for you. The author has concluded the book with a summary of its three power points: Our life on earth would not be possible without our life force being introduced through our invisible aura and distributed by the network of our chakras. The chakra network is linked into the major endocrine glands, major body organs and the nervous system of the body. Therefore all aspects of our physical body's growth and behaviour are under the control of the aura and chakra systems. These operations are reflected as individual varying rainbow-coloured radiation fields emanating from within the physical body. Do not be conformed to this world, otherwise known as your lower life, but instead be transformed by the renewal of your mind to set aside your wall of forgetfulness, to uncover your spiritual higher life, of an all-knowing perfect spirit of wisdom, power and love. It is worth remembering that each time a spirit incarnates on earth through a soul, there is a new set of parents and family, and a new time sphere. So no two experiences can ever be regarded as the same. It's all part of the mysteries of life.
